MDF Tops

MDF table tops are the perfect choice for indoor applications. They are constructed of basswood veneer with a resin coating to protect the surface from scratches and high temperatures, while chamfered edges add a classic finish. These tops are eminently complementary to our range of contract timber chairs.

2 year warranty

Economical Gentas Werzalit table tops are ideal for both indoors and outdoors. Worldwide patented manufacturing technology allows the tops to be formed from one piece without glued joints thereby avoiding potential weak spots, while decorative laminates and acrylics are moulded to create a homogenous, high quality, seamless top which is hygienic and UV resistant.

Gentas is located in the Black Sea region of northern Turkey, a heavily forested area from where selected hard and soft woods are sourced. This ideal location provides a variety of raw materials; however, Gentas are acutely conscious of their conservation obligations and strictly comply with European standards for forest recycling and replanting schemes.

Note: To avoid the risk of curving or deforming through the effects of heat accumulation, black coloured tables should not be exposed to direct sunlight. (For other colours, please consult our commercial sales department.)

Stone

Robust Artia Stone table tops are suited to either indoor or outdoor applications. They are manufactured by bonding a 5mm layer of natural stone into a 15mm lightweight aluminium honeycomb structure. The result? High impact resistance, weatherproof and temperature tolerant ranging from -40 to 80 degrees C.

Tavilo

Tavilo table tops offer seamless decorative board panels suitable for use in both high and low 'abuse' areas. Tough enough for indoors and out, these tops are manufactured to 12mm thick panels. The self-supporting high pressure laminate results in a product with maximum resistance to impact, scratching, wear and water damage while providing a premium hygienic surface.

Add a couple of layers of coloured papers or why not aluminium, and get a table top that is unique!
